

Assignment#4

Instructions:

Write a program in C++ that declares an unsigned char array of 50 elements and initializes every element with "0AH." The program then calculates the sum of these 50 elements using MMX instructions through inline assembly programming and displays it on screen.

Hint: The last eight bytes would be summed serially.

Solutions without using MMX instructions would carry no marks.